

Canopy roofs, small roofs, and skylights

[1]

Glass roofs, canopy roofs, and skylights are a perfect fit for both the contemporary and classic architectural style, which explains why they are so popular. Glass roofs can be based on lightweight structures, suspended, point- or line-fitted. Depending on the pane size, mounting type, character of the structure and surroundings, roof glass is usually a laminate composed of two tempered glass panes (ESG VSG).

Below we present several photos of the projects made with Dubiel Vitrum glass.
